Aero Performance Products, Inc. Announces Results of Recent Aero Sponsored Racing Events

Issued Thursday, May 29, 8:55 am ET

SOUTH JORDAN, UT--(MARKET WIRE)--May 29, 2008--Aero Performance Products, Inc. (Other OTC: AERP), which operates Aero Exhaust, Inc., a world leader in performance exhaust airflow technology and NASCAR Performance Partner, today announced the results of several recent Aero sponsored racing events and race awards, including the NASCAR Camping World Series East and West Tours, the ASA Aero Exhaust Northwest Tour and the Northwest Pro-4 Alliance.

In the NASCAR Camping World Series, Brian Ickler drove his family-owned No. 15 Ickler Motorsports Chevrolet to victory lane in the US Cellular 200 at Iowa Speedway. The field for the race included the top drivers in the NASCAR Camping World Series, as well as NASCAR Sprint Cup driver Kasey Kahne, who had won the NASCAR Sprint All-Star Challenge on May 17th at Lowe's Motor Speedway in Charlotte, North Carolina.

The Aero Exhaust Lap Leader Awards for the race were given to Joe Gibbs Racing development driver Marc Davis, who drove the No. 18 Slim Jim Toyota (East) and to Jeff Barkshire (West) in the No. 46 Centennial Batteries Dodge. The next race in the NASCAR Camping World Series East will be held on May 31st at the South Boston Speedway, and the next race in the NASCAR Camping World Series West is scheduled for June 7th at the Colorado National Speedway.

Aero Exhaust is a title sponsor of the ASA Aero Exhaust Northwest Tour, which features a nine race season at six different race tracks in the Pacific Northwest. Pete Harding of Surrey, British Columbia won the Yakima Grinding/Federated Auto Parts/Wix Filters 125 on May 24, 2008 at Yakima Speedway in Yakima, Washington. The next event for the ASA Aero Exhaust Northwest Tour presented by ECHO Outdoor Power Equipment will be a road course race at Pacific Raceways in Kent, Washington on June 6-7, 2008. As the title sponsor for the series, Aero signage is prominently displayed at the race events, Aero products are used on race cars, and a show car is used to promote Aero products and the series. All event posters and pocket schedules also feature the Aero name.

On the Northwest Pro-4 Alliance, for which Aero also serves as a sponsor, Steve Thompson drove to victory in the Rockett Brand Racing Fuel 100 at the South Sound Speedway May 24th in Rochester, Washington. The next race on the Northwest Pro-4 Alliance is scheduled for June 21st at Stateline Speedway in Post Falls, Idaho. Aero's association with the Northwest Pro-4 Alliance includes race sponsorships, sponsorships of race awards, high profile signage and Aero stickers at race events, and the use of Aero products on race cars. The Northwest Pro-4 Alliance is a series that has brought the top three four-cylinder late model groups in the country together to produce big fields of cars, exciting competition and major exposure for everyone involved.

Aero Performance Products CEO Bryan Hunsaker commented, "Aero's sponsorship of racing events and race awards, including both NASCAR and smaller regional series, are important for the grass roots marketing of our mufflers and exhaust system products to racing enthusiasts. The expanding awareness of Aero products indicate that this marketing channel has been successful, and we look forward to providing future updates on races and awards affiliated with Aero Exhaust."
